

The secondary social studies department aims to produce knowledgeable, wise, and engaged citizens.

Here's how we define the "four pillars" of our department.

KNOWLEDGE: historically, economically, and civically literate.

Books and articles we've read and discussed: _____

Experiments we've run: _____

WISDOM: maturity; open-mindedness; global awareness; critical thinking

Books and articles we've read and discussed: _____

Experiments we've run: _____

ENGAGEMENT: participating in civic duties; able to take productive action on matters of societal concern; using social studies experiences after high school

Books and articles we've read and discussed: _____

Experiments we've run: _____

CITIZENSHIP:

Books and articles we've read and discussed: _____

Experiments we've run: _____